Claire was a vivacious, fun-loving woman, who lived her life to the fullest. Her sense of humor was infectious, and she loved to laugh. Claire was a "city girl" who was always dressed to the nines, and loved to go shopping for the latest fashions. She also loved to travel. While cruises were her favorite, even a trip across the street was welcome and could be an adventure. However, Claire was most passionate about her family and friends. She loved having everyone together for parties, and the louder, the better. Claire was also a movie buff. Judy Garland was her favorite actress, and she made sure everyone knew that her middle name was after her.
